

COCKTAILS

Intertwined with the Engadin landscape and made in collaboration with the team behind Zurich based restaurant Margot, our menu seeks to evoke wonder and presence through a celebration of local ingredients, experimentation and artistic expression that will move you through the seasons.

A single ingredient represents each cocktail and is accompanied by techniques and flavours that enhance and celebrate the chosen ingredient. Allowing the mountains to become a part of each sip, taste and story.

APERITIF, SPIRITS & WHISK(E)Y

Inspired drinking starts with the core ingredients, so we have thoughtfully put together a modest selection of those we love from alpine spirits, vermouths, liqueurs, Marc & Eau de Vie to a Whisk(e)y list we trust may lure the most discerning fan.

Also inspired by the mountains, our favourite Swiss beer is made with water from the Alps and our carbonated drinks using water sourced from Graubünden's Allegra Spring.

WHISK(E)Y

To help navigate and ensure you find a dram that suits you, we have used and pay homage to our philosophy developed in our sister hotel in the Scottish Highlands, The Fife Arms. All whiskies fall into four flavour categories. A brief introduction to this should set you on your way.

FRAGRANT The smells of fresh cut grass, flowers, green apples and pears. A sense of the delicate, fresh and lively. If this were a season it would be spring. Welcome to the world of fragrant whiskies.

RICH Rich whiskies are defined as much by the cask they've been aged in as the distillery itself. In general, these casks will have previously held sherry, port, madeira or even red wine.

SMOKY Smoky whiskies are easy to define – they smell of smoke – yet they are also the most diverse of the flavour camps, as they can be grant, fruity or rich.

FRUITY Welcome to a world of fruits and our broadest flavour profiles. When we talk about fruit in whisky, this encompasses ripe peach, apricot and tropical fruits such as mango, guava, banana, pineapple, and even cooked apples.
